

Strathmore Town Council Meeting

An effort to purchase lot 23, block 3 received from H. M. Thorburn for the 1928 taxes and conveying was made.

Current accounts amounting to about $58.00 were referred to Finance Committee, and H. M. Conrad to be paid.

COMING EVENTS

Military Demonstration at Carleton Place, Sept. 9 to 11. Mrs. R. A. Bishop is making the arrangements.

The Canadian Legion have made arrangements to hold an "Election Dance" on Tuesday, Sept. 14th, in the Memorial Hall.

Election results will be furnished by direct wire to the hall. Come and dance while you wait the time, while you learn the fate of the political favorites all over Canada.

Election Dance, under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, will be held in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 14th, at 8 o'clock. The Memorial Hall will furnish you election news while you dance. Supper will be served by the Women's Institute.

Fire Brigade will be on duty on Friday night at 7 o'clock, overhauling the engine. Be sure to give every man to do his duty.

Tuesday, September 14, polling day. Dominating election. Polls open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Parliament, at Hurtle's new theatre, "The Coast of Italy" on Friday night at 8 o'clock. Two shows Saturday night, "Vanety," 7:30 p.m.

more team; the members of which are sorely depressed over his early demise.

When the funeral is arranged, the pallbearers will be the following members of the Cricket Club: H. G. Brown, R. Page, R. Patterson, J. Mallory, G. Knyvel, F. Dodkin, A. Lambert, A. Mercer, S. Slater, W. Gorman, S. Griffith and Percy Wright.

It was decided at Calgary that an autopsy should be held in order to determine the actual cause of the death of deceased, which occurred so unexpectedly.

Pending the report, certificate of death could not be obtained, without which the remains could not be removed by the Calgary Undertakers.

This was the cause for the non-arrival of the remains upon the train for the funeral, and the postponement of the funeral to St. Michaels and All Angels Church, to which church arrangements for the funeral had been made.

Many of his acquaintances suggest the latter course, and the members of the Council probably may give the matter their consideration.

John Taylor requested information regarding the amount if any expended in 1925 over the estimates for the drainage of the city, and was instructed to furnish the same.

Mr. Taylor made a protest regarding the Tierney Block encroaching on the city limits, and was instructed to take the matter up with Mr. Tierney.

Mr. Taylor was in quite a critical mood, and pointed out that some special attention should be given to the matter of drainage on Railway Ave. and Third St. in order to save the city from the expense of the pavers of that section. The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

An expression of appreciation was made by Mr. Taylor for the city assistants Messrs Miller and Parish for their thoughtfulness and work in attempting to save the live in the city, which had been recently notified.

The matter of arrears of taxes of Thomas Chamberlin was brought up, and the committee was instructed to notify him, that if not settled within one week that proceedings would be started forthwith.

The meeting adjourned, and was called for September 15th, the date of their exhibition be declared a half holiday from 1.30 to 6 p.m., which Standard school fall will be held on Friday, September 11 in the St. Louis-Hall district. All the schools in the district are competing, and entries have also been received from near-by schools. There is a fine prize list and a grand prize of $100. Entries have been arranged. Everyone welcome, and the weather man promising to be good and hold itself big and better.

VITAL FACTS ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

At the end of the first year comes the cotton wedding anniversary. The wife realizes that her silk hose won't give with husband's income, so she gets some cotton hose. But does she? The second year is the paper wedding. Husband's paper is overdue at the bank, so he pays it off by giving her paper.

The third year is the leather anniversary. Father gets a nice leather strap any old belt or razor strap will do with which to impress Junior that he is to mind. Father starts early.

The tenth year is the tin wedding. They trade in their tin little for a new one.

The fifteenth year is the crystal wedding so they get a crystal ring set with four sets of ear-phones. The twentieth year is the china wedding, so they see China. Mother declares she never wants to miss any of those traveltogue films.

The twenty-fifth year is the silver wedding. Along with silver in their hair, they realize that they have more silverware than silver.

The thirty-year is the pearl wedding. Pearl spends Thanksgiving at home and brings along a string of little pearls.

The fourth year is the ruby wedding. Ruby manages to get back to the old home from Honolulu. Ruby has always been considered a jewel.

The fifth year is the golden wedding. Ruby and Pearl, and Junior, now the eldest, begin to scheme to get father's gold and what afterwards he and mother have left. They find out that all is not gold that glistens. This anniversary is also known as the gold-cash.

The seventy-fifth year is the diamond wedding. But who wants a diamond ring after waiting that long?

CREARER SPEAKS IN MANITOBA

(By Canadian Press)

WINNIPEG—Hon. Charles A. Dunning, former minister of railways, and Hon. T. A. Crear, former leader of the Progressive party, are conducting an extensive speaking tour in Manitoba this week.

Mr. Crear opened his campaign at Minnedosa, speaking in the interest of J. Allison-Glen, Progressive-Liberal candidate.

The former leader of the Progressive side dealt at great length with the question of railway rates and charged that if the Conservative party was returned to power there was a "grave danger of the statutory protection being removed from the Crow's Nest Pass rates." If this occurred, Western Canada would pay at least $20,000,000 more than it did last year for moving the grain crop. The Crow's Nest agreement and the statutory protection clause were embodied in the law of the country, said Mr. Crear.

CHEADLE

Mr. A. Cheadle of Portland, Oregon was a visitor for a few days at the home of Babe Walter. Mr. Cheadle is an old timer of the Cayley district, near High River, where he still has considerable farm holdings.

Mr. Hoover is relieving at the station near Mr. Halton's absence.

Mrs. C. Cowell and Mrs. Roy Miner have returned after a motor trip to Vancouver.

Jim McLea is visiting in the district until after harvest and threshing.

About sixty per cent. of the crop has been cut in the district, and it will take about two weeks before the rest is harvested on account of it being green. If the frost holds off the quality should be good.

Conservative and Miller shipped a car of bucklers to New Westminster on Tuesday on the Stampede. Cap Miller went with them, and will stay for the stampede.

Mr. and Mrs. Komiek were week end visitors to Reddick.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Barber spent the week end at Banff.

"My husband is very absentminded at times," said Mrs. Blank to her caller. "One evening recently I said to him as I was glancing over the newspaper: 'I see that there are over a thousand cases of measles in town.' And John suddenly woke out of his reverie and exclaimed: 'How many is a case?'"

BOW AND CANADA THISTLE

100,000 acres have been abandoned in southern part of the province on account of having lost these thistles get such a start as to be beyond financial basis control. To eradicate them would cost more than the land was producing. What has happened in the south can happen here, unless we farmers and city folk wake up to the fact that the weed menace has the most vital significance relative to the production and prosperity of our portion of the province, and it is only by persistent efforts, such as watching for weeds, cutting and pulling them when discovered, and letting your neighbor know or weeds that have failed to see, that we are going to keep our places clean.

This weed problem affects the people of the towns just as much as it does the farmer. Gardens are ruined by weeds as well as crops. The farmers loss reflects itself in the towns. No one lives to himself, so let's own and all study, watch and work out the weed problem.

The sow and Canada thistle at the present time are in bloom and some seedling. The seed being of a fluffy downy nature is blown in all directions.

Any plants found now should be cut or dug out and where the bloom has gone to seed it should be burned. Where the thistle is found in small patches it can be eradicated by digging out and keeping the spot black all summer and fall. The object being not to allow any leaves to appear and thus smother the roots as they break through the leaves. Covering with tar paper also gives the same satisfying results only be careful that there are no stones beneath the tar paper as they will puncture holes in it and allow the air to enter. Covering with straw is very little use. The straw or manure being porous allows the air to get to the ground. Old cylinder oil poured on the plant will also kill the thistle.

When found in large patches in fields it should be cut at once and then plowed. The cutting prevents it from seeding and the plowing it keeps black smother the roots. But by all means keep the land black until freeze up and also continue this black summer-fallow all next Spring, Summer and Fall. In the following Spring it may be safely cropped.

MANITOBA CANDIDATE
FAILS TO FILE IN TIME;
OUT OF CONTEST

WINNIPEG—Ten men carrying the nomination papers of Dr. D. H. McFadden, Conservative, to St. Pierre, Manitoba, were delayed by muddy roads Tuesday that they reached the town too late to file the papers and A. L. Daubenton, Liberal-Progressive, was returned by acclamation to present the constituency of Provencher, in the next federal house.

The two men, traveling by automobile, left Winnipeg at 10 o'clock for St. Pierre, 30 miles distant. Ten miles of the journey was made in fast time over asphalt roads but from then on the country was forced to travel over dirt highways rendered almost impassable by overnight rains.

Nominations closed at the town of St. Pierre at 2 p.m. At 3:15 p.m. the men reached the town. They reported that it had been impossible for them to secure other means of transportation when their automobile stalled.

LOCAL NOTINGS

The Canadian Legion are giving a double entertainment next Tuesday night, September 14, when they present their election dance. In addition to holding the dance, with music by Chapin's orchestra and supper served by the Women's Institute, a direct wire has been arranged to carry complete telegraph returns of the Dominion election, so that long before the final number has been reached you will know the fate of your political friends and opponents.

George Clifard, of Alderton, Wash., motorized through to Strathmore, and was four days enroute to Strathmore.

H. E. Chauncey, D.D.G.M. of the Masonic Lodge for District No. 1, paid an official visit to the local lodge on Monday night.

Casey Nearing captured a young wild duck on Railway Avenue on Monday night. He tenderly nursed it overnight and gave it its liberty on Tuesday morning. Casey says it was attracted by the "bright lights" the same as lots of other flappers.

Mr. A. H. Haines, who motored up from Montana last week, left on Tuesday on his return trip.

The Misses Mary and Esther Stockton are spending several days at Brooks.

The performance at Hirdle's new theatre on Friday night will begin at 8 o'clock instead of 8.30.

Mr. Harry Houghton, of Sioux City, Iowa, was here during the weekend looking after his interests in the neighborhood.

A poll for the Strathmore District will be taken in the Memorial Hall from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday, 14th inst. The deputy returning officers are T. M. Wears and Richard Bailey.

Members of the Fire Brigade are requested by Chief A. V. McFarland, to parade for active service on Friday night, at 7 o'clock, when the reels will be given a complete overhaul.

Manager Hirdle was one happy man when he received the information that the seats for the new theatre had arrived. He will have them all placed for the show on Friday night, which now starts at 8 o'clock instead of 8.30. The only thing that took the joy out of it was the freight bill. However, the manager quite philosophically remarks that you can't have everything just the way you want it.

The Town Council have declared Wednesday, September 15, a half-holiday in order that all may have an opportunity to attend the School Fair.

Mr. Geo. Berry has a young apple tree, which has been very carefully nurtured. Some one has partly destroyed it. It is hoped that it was the work of some thoughtless boy, rather than the work of an evil minded adult. An effort is being made to locate the party, and if successful an example will be set for future reference.

The qualifying round for the cup and consolation in the Golf contest, which was to have been played on Wednesday, will be played next Saturday.

SCHOOL COLUMN

School opened last Wednesday with an attendance of 165. It is hoped that all High School pupils who intend to return, but who are at present working, will return as soon as they possibly can. It is not easy to catch up with work that is missed in the early part of the year.

At the school fair meeting on Saturday, final arrangements were made. The order of events will be as follows: 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., arranging of exhibits.

1.30 p.m., parade starts.

2.30 p.m., physical drill.

3.00 p.m., singing contest.

3.30 p.m., pony and one mile race.

It is hoped that all teachers will make a real effort to have their pupils in the parade, physical drill and singing.

The singing is to consist of the best rendering of two suitable songs, one of which will be patriotic.

A supply of entry tags is now on hand. Teachers will greatly facilitate the work of the secretary if they will notify him how many tags they require.

As was done last year, concessions will be granted to organizations wishing to serve refreshments, 10% of gross takings to be paid to the School Fair Association.

Seven or eight judges and secretaries will be needed on the day of the Fair. The names of any willing to act in this capacity will be gratefully received.

Parents and others are respectfully reminded that it upsets the work of classes to have pupils called to the phone during the progress of classes. Except in cases of real necessity pupils should only be called at noon or at recesses.

ROYAL BANK REVIEWS CANADIAN TRADE CONDITIONS

Though our imports were greater by $129,470,000 than in 1925, Canada's favourable trade balance amounted to $401,234,000, which represents the largest favourable trade balance in the history of any country in the world. The remarkable growth of our export trade is due to the physical expansion of volume of our production, as well as to the appreciable general increase in value, and the enlarged exports of raw materials is accompanied by gratifying increases in shipments of manufactured goods. The recovery of industry in Europe and the increasing purchasing power of other countries has, of course, contributed largely to the growth of our agricultural exports. One of the most striking features of Canadian export trade, however, within recent years, has been its increasing foreign ramifications. Particularly noteworthy is the development of our trade with South America, which has been stimulated by the activities of Canadian Trade Commissioners and the commercial penetration of that continent by Canadian Banking Institutions in recent years.

For Economical Transportation

Value Means More than Price Alone!

THE price of a car is what you pay—the value is what you get. Value is the combination of Quality and Price.

Notwithstanding the recent remarkable reductions in Chevrolet prices, Chevrolet does not aim to be the cheapest car in its class. It does aim and is justly considered—the greatest value in its class.

The smooth Chevrolet is outstanding value, not only because it costs you less—but because it gives you more—more smoothness of performance—more power and speed—more instant acceleration—more sparkling beauty of line and finish—more richness of upholstery—more completeness of appointments.

To pay less than the price of the smooth Chevrolet is to sacrifice quality. To pay more, for a car in the Chevrolet class, is needless extravagance.

The smoothest Chevrolet is Chevrolet history is selling at the Lowest Price for which Chevrolet has ever been sold in Canada.

Ask your Chevrolet dealer about the GMAC Plan of buying a car on time.

FORTUNE IS PAID FOR ENGLISH RACING COLT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Satrap, fastest two-year-old racing colt of the season in England, has been purchased for Foxcatcher Farms, owned by Wm. Dupont Jr., for the record price of approximately $100,000, it was disclosed today.

ROCKYFORD

Over three inches of rain during the week held up all harvesting operations with the exception of a small amount of cutting on Saturday afternoon. Rain fell again on Sunday, and will take some days of fine weather before threshing can be done. Most of the wheat in the district is now in stock, but there are some very late crops of oats for which anxiety is felt on account of frost.

Sportsmen are already beginning to make plans for the 15th. Ducks are plentiful, as also are partridge and prairie chicken.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. and Mrs. August Stitt's baby girl, Bernadette, on Sunday, Sept. 5th. The funeral was held at the R. C. Church, Rockyford, on September 6th. The greatest sympathy is felt for the parents in their great loss.

At Tudor Sunday, a most interesting lecture was delivered on India, by Miss Nellie West, who, for some time, has been a teacher in a school of the teachers of Tibet. Her lecture was made the more interesting in that it was illustrated with photographs and curios.

After the picture show on Saturday night, Mr. Bert Erswell gave a demonstration of his new Victrola Orthophonic in the Town Hall. The music and dancing was much enjoyed by about sixty people. The machine proved a great success for dancing both in volume and quality of the program.

The education question at Rockyford is well taken care of this year. We have a two roomed separate school under the supervision of the Misses Walsh and Gleason, school one room under the supervision of Mr. McFarlane; the rural High School under Miss T. Sherry. The school opened on September 1st, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, full attendance has not yet registered.

DALEMEAD

Motoring from Winnipeg Mr. Hay and son, James, from Carleton, were visitors over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Martin.

Mrs. Ed. Gilbert, from Toronto, is a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas.

School opened here last Wednesday, September 1st, with Miss R. M. Kane, from Calgary, again at the Dalemead school; Miss Alice Dean, Langdon, for the Newton school; Miss Anderson, from Blackfoot, for the Strathmead school and Miss Brown, foot for the Arboyan school.

Miss Jennie Rae is teaching at the Winters school at Indus.

The Dalemead Rural High School started to present in the Community Hall first opened its doors on Monday, September 6th, Miss Beattie, of Calgary, former teacher of the Strathmead school, will be its first teacher, with seventeen pupils in attendance.

Jack Byres is visiting at the home of the Brant.

J. E. Stronther, of Calgary, messenger for the Bank of Montreal, lies in the Holy Cross hospital in a serious condition suffering injuries sustained when he was pitched to the pavement when struck by a car in charge of George Kautz, Dalemead. Mr. Stronther is suffering from concussion, shock and severe lacerations. Dr. J. J. McEachern, attending physician, advised last night that the victim was making favorable progress. Mr. Kautz was arrested by Sergeant Casle, of the Calgary police, yesterday released on bail of $200.

Mr. Stronther was proceeding home shortly after noon Saturday and was walking with his bicycle across the north end of the Centre Street bridge Kautz driving a sedan, struck the man. Kautz picked up the injured man and rushed him to the hospital in an unconscious condition. Hospital authorities reported Stronther's condition as satisfactory. Reports that the victim's skull was fractured are not believed to be true.

MACKENZIE KING ASKS QUARTER MILLION DAMAGES

OTTAWA—Senator Chas. Murphy and H. H. John C. Elliott, former minister of labor, are named as two other plaintiffs in the $250,000 action for damages for libel which has been taken on behalf of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King et al against the trustees of the estate of the late John Ross Robertson, publisher of the Toronto Evening Telegram.

SKILL AND PATIENCE GAME

Golf is a game of skill and patience. At the same time it is also a great strain on veracity.

Four men were playing a match the other day on a course in which the ninth hole lay over a deep ravine. Three of them went in the ravine, but by a stroke of fortune the fourth cleared it and found himself almost on its edge. The others suspected their respective lies, and two of them decided to give up the hole. The third said he would go down and play out and he did.

"How many strokes?" queried the others when he reappeared.

"Three," he answered shortly. "The others you heard were echoes."

HEARD ON THE STREET

The members of the "Dirty Dozen Combination" are anxious to find out why Jack Taylor wrote home requesting that three bow ties be sent out to him post haste. Pete Teifer says he sure has his troubles keeping the gang on a straight.

D. N. Gardiner says: "If you have never come across a man who can make you tremble and thrill in every fiber of your being at his very touch, if you have never felt that taut skin shock that the very sight of such a being sent through you—go try the dentist."

The teacher gave the pupils a composition on Ducks, and among those received was one which said: "The duck is a low, under-stung, heavy-bodied bird, composed mostly of meat, bill and feathers. His head sets on one end and he sets on the other."

There ain't no heaven, in his own and he carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep from sinking. The duck has only two legs and they are set so far back on his trailing gear that they come darn near missing his body.

Some ducks when they get big are called drakes. Drakes don't have to set or hatch; just loaf, go swimming and eat. If I had to be a duck I'd rather be a drake every time. Ducks don't give milk, but ease, but for me, give me liberty or give me death.

Young Red Deer Brider: "Yes Mother, thanks to my cooking school course I know all about marketing. The only thing that puzzles me is whether you get money from the butcher or the grocer."

Tony Grogan has a Jewish friend in Vancouver whose daughter was recently married, and he presented the son in law with a wedding present of ten thousand dollars. Tony says his friend referred to it as a "fuzzy" proposition.

Bill Wilkinson thinks that short dresses make men more polite. "You seldom see a man get on a street car ahead of one."

An Irishman, while walking down the street was stopped by a gentleman who asked him for a match.

Gentlemen: "Thank you. You know I am a man of importance at home. I am Sir John Holly-Barry, Knight of the Garter, Knight of the Golden Fleece, and Knight of the Eagle. And what's your name my man?"

"Me names Tierney, night before last night, tonight, tomorrow night and every other night, and I honored myself by spending my first night there, and I expect to spend my last night at Moyle's."

Tony McKinley writes that he knows a man who made a bet with his wife, which was indiscreet.

The wife won, which was foreroduction. The man wrote the wife a check for five dollars in payment of the bet, which was said.

The wife cashed the check at the grocery, but forgot to endorse it, which was natural.

The grocer, despite the lack of endorsement, paid it to a J. Thrift's collector, which was careless.

The packing house collector turned it in, which was all in a day's work. The Thrift's office man discovered the lack of endorsement, which was good work.

He handed it back to the driver and deducted the driver's salary, which was system.

The driver placed the check in his white check book and sent it to the laundry, which was savvy.

The laundry returned the check beyond recognition, which was expected.

Which is why the driver asked the cashier to ask the grocer to ask the man's wife to ask her husband to write a duplicate check. Which is why the man feels like he is paying that bet twice.

The absent minded school teacher had left his berth in the sleeper to get a little exercise at Strathmore.

Then he realized he had forgotten where his berth was and began walking up and down the platform to find it.

"Don't you remember the number of your berth?" asked agent Perry.

"I'm afraid I don't," sheepishly admitted the teacher.

"I've got you an idea where it was—can't you remember some little thing that would help you locate it?"

"Why—er—oh, yes, to be sure!" and the teacher brightened visibly. "I did notice, at one time this afternoon, that the window looked out upon a little river near Calgary."

Recently a Calgary business man spoke the following in a dictating machine: "The gentleman in question has sold our products in Hays for a period of over two years, and we have always found him satisfactory in every detail."

All came right in the transcription except one word, and that word was the change from Hays to Hades! And the letter, being "dictated but not read," went!

Jack Taylor was telling Teddie Pon degoat that he never felt better in his life, and that the work as mechanic for the Kelly Electric Co. just suited him.

Each morning he is full of pep and just aching to get to work. Teifer says it is all bunk, and that he is only originating the "main goon". Pete says Jack has not been the same since he recently visited Calgary, where he picked up an acquaintance to whom he became very much attached. Jack was so excited about it that threatened to throw his clothes out the window, saying, "I am so pleased, I don't think I will ever need these clothes any more, and says Ted, that would have been a big sacrifice for a Scotchman to make. However, all's well that ends well, and Jack saved his clothes and his money."

He is still worrying about the narrow escape that he had, and Pete says it certainly did effect his work.

Fred Nye says he cannot understand our Courts of Justice. When a witness is called the court insists that they "tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," and then every time he tries, some lawyer objects and the court sustains the objection.

Helen calling at Tierney's factory said: "Say, boss, can you give me a job when I can keep dressed up all the time and won't have to work?"

Bill Tierney: "I'll remember you and when I find two jobs like that you can have the other."

Heard on Railway Avenue: "Darling, will you marry me?"

"No."

"Well, then, please don't tell Aggie I asked you first."

She: "I bought a piano awfully cheap today."

He: "How much?"

"I got $250 a month."

"For how many months?"

"Oh! forgot to ask them that."

It was in the drawing class at the school. "Sargent was a great artist," said the teacher. "With one stroke he could change a smiling face to a sorrowful one."

"That ain't nothing," piped up Frank. "Me mother does that to me lots of times."

Kelly: "Why did the doctor advise you not to stay out late at night; because the night air isn't good for you?"

Miller: "No, because the excitement after I got home isn't good for me."

"Very, very sad, sir," said Doctor Moore. "I greatly regret to tell you your wife's mind is completely gone."

"Well, I'm not surprised, Doc," he turned the husband. "She's been giving me a piece of it every day for the last fifteen years."

Mrs. Newlywed (in tears): "Doo-noo I don't believe you love me any more."

Hubby: "Certainly I do. Didn't I kiss your aunt?"

"My dear, I think I shall spend the night as my sister's, cause his wife's voice over the telephone Naps Calgary."

"do you care?"

"Not at all," he replied, heartily.

"Then, I had better take No. 11 train home," she decided.

"Marriage," said the Amper philosopher, "is like a railroad sign. When you see a pretty girl you stop, then you look, and after you're married you hate."

The aviators wife was taking her first trip with her husband in his airship. "Wait a moment, George," she said. "I'm afraid we will have to go down again."

"What's wrong?" asked the husband.

"The pearl buttons off my jacket."

"I can see it glistering on the ground."

"Keep your seat, my dear," said the aviator. "That's a lark."

"When 'Tony' Grogan was in town last week, he inadvertently registered at the King Edward Hotel on the page of the previous day. The day clerk was full of hop or dope, or something, and did not notice the error, and assigned him to room 15. During the evening many who had come to the political meeting decided to remain over in town rather than face the bad roads, with the result that all rooms were soon occupied, including the "bridal chamber," which Grogan always insists upon getting.

Alone about midnight Grogan came in and was anxious to return to his room, but said to relate, there was "nothing doing," and so he had to wait up for train No. 15, upon which he accompanied Mr. A. A. McMillan back to Calgary.

While he was waiting for the train he expressed himself very plain about bone-headed landlarks, after which he felt much better, and then reverted to the high cost of living, saying: "The cost of living's climbing. It's not succeeding day, it takes a lot of trying to keep your 'ank in hay. One quart of dark molasses now costs a big round bone; and as for fruit in classes, the prices make 'plazins mink. Oh, once a dollar bill would buy a lot of truck—but now what prices silly they charge for our chucks. No matter where I wander I find the profiteer; I fear that over yonder those harps will come right dear. Commissioners are commissioned to trail the gougers down—the fellows who're suspected of jipping farm and town; but all they do I wager is meet and draw their pay."

"That is their duty, mayor—they do it too say. No profiteer is sleeping in prison dungeon tight; may, may, they're all out raping the fruits of others' night. Perhaps some glad some morning well wake up from our trance and, other measures scorning, we'll boot 'em in the pants. Then with wild whoops of gladness we'll drag 'em to the magistrate and, as viewing their saddest, we'll dance a merry jig. And my one broken, shining earwheel will bay a dollars worth and joy and mirth and gladness will reign through all the earth."

FACTORIES WILL REMOVE TO SMALLER CENTRES

The city industrial worker has one chance in eight if living to be 70 years old. The farmer has one chance in three. So reports a committee of the United Hospital Fund, New York.

There is a nutshell, you have a graspable picture of what civilization is doing to the city industrial worker. Health is close to the soil.

The time is not far off when cities may in large part break up, factories moving to the smaller centres where living conditions are much more conducive to better health and taking their workers with them. Either that or man heads for extinction.

MONEY HARD TO GET AND KEEP

There is always more or less worry connected with money. Those of us who do not have it worry about getting it, and those who have it are often put to a great deal of worry in hanging on to it. In addition to this, no little worry is brought on by the desire to make a dollar grow where only a nickel grew before. It seems as though poets and philosophers have conspired to bring money into disrepute, so anxious are they to tell us that the mere possession of it is a great burden.

In more recent times there has come to us the warning that money carries germs. Germ experts even went so far as to demonstrate that a bank clerk's occupation was particularly hazardous because he handles so much money. But now this dread has been dispelled. After an exhaustive investigation on the subject of money as germ carriers two University experts assure us that this danger has been greatly exaggerated. It seems that the metals from which coins are made act as destroyers of bacteria.

This relieves people of the worry connected with the handling of money. The next thing for some expert to do is to tell how the public may be relieved of worries in trying to get hold of it.

MARK YOUR BALLOTS CORRECTLY

On Tuesday next the electors will again have the privilege of exercising their franchise in a Dominion Election. Do not forget that in this election you mark X opposite the name of your favorite candidate.

In the recent provincial election, the use of the numerals was compulsory, though many of the electors persisted in marking their ballots otherwise, and thus disfranchised themselves.

At this election, any other mark but an X will disqualify your vote. This is an important election and everyone should vote and be careful to vote correctly.

Returning and Deputy Returning officers have no discretionary power and will simply tally to count any vote that contains any other mark but an X and that must be made with a lead pencil supplied at the polling booth.

SELECT SEED CORN EARLY

This is the time of the year that attention must be given to the selection of a supply of seed corn. It is seldom safe to leave this work after the first ten days of September. Comparatively light frosts injure the vitality of corn when it is full of moisture as it is at this season of the year, and the best way is to gather at least a limited supply as soon as it is sufficiently mature to make strong seed.

Seed of the flint varieties such as Gellu, Squaw, and Dakota White Flint can be gathered as soon as it has started to glaze and that of the dent varieties when it shows signs of denting. When pulled at this early stage there is considerable shrinkage but if it is carefully cured the germination will be strong. If it is pulled before it has reached the stages mentioned the shrinkage is so excessive that it is of little value for seed.

Careful curing is all important. Even when well matured the grain and the cob contain a high percentage of moisture and it is very important that this be driven off as quickly and thoroughly as possible. If the ears are thrown in a pile when gathered mould quickly develops and the seed is ruined. The ears should be stripped back or removed as soon as the corn is gathered and the ears hung up in small bunches or placed in a wire rack so that they do not touch one another and where there is free circulation of air around them. To place them on a floor is poor practice as they are apt to mould on the lower side.

Various methods of curing corn are described and illustrated in a circular entitled the Selection and Curing of Seed Corn recently issued by the Department of Agriculture. The circular was prepared by James Murray, District Agriculturalist, Medicine Hat, and could may be had by writing his office.

WEEDS A NATIONAL PROBLEM

(Experimental Farm Notes)

Traveling through Canada, one is struck by the prevalence and diversity of weeds. Whole districts, certainly fields, can be described as white, blue, yellow and green, the green too often unfortunately, or rough grass rather than of clean, vigorously growing crops. The occurrence, here and there, of exceptions to the rule, simply demonstrates the possibility of better things.

Losses to farms and to Canada, totalling many millions of dollars annually, are represented by this riot of color. Any means however partial of reducing such waste, must therefore command respect.

Much of eastern Canada is fit only for a forest crop. Fire and axe have exposed to the incursion of weeds, millions of acres that can only be a menace to adjoining lands until restored by governmental or municipal action largely to its own proper use. In large additional areas the farming can only be described as very low intensive cropping indeed. The land lies in hay or pasture chiefly, and in a year or two from the plow, produces herbage unmarketable at bay. Until brought under a new intensive agriculture, or correct permanent pasture management returns from such farms will be meagre.

In more advanced farming districts there is a noticeable decrease of such conspicuous, but readily (under cultivation) suppressed weeds as buttercup, oxeyeaisy, and the hawkweed. In their place, according to locality, appear various mustards, thistles and others. Good weeds are none of less indicative of over reliance on grain crops, others prevail in clovered and growing districts, quail or truck-

STANDARD

Miss Nettie Fuhr arrived on Monday from Leduc, Alta., and will take charge of the intermediate grades of Dana school during the coming school year.

Mrs. Thorvald Nelson, who has been residing in Chancellors, returned to Standard last week so that her daughter, Marion, may attend school.

Mrs. J. P. Hanson and Walter returned on Monday from Calgary where Walter has been receiving treatment in the Holy Cross Hospital.

School opened on Thursday with an enrolment of almost thirty pupils, fifteen of whom are beginners.

Little Harold Laig, received a very painful bruise on his leg when he fell last Wednesday morning. He was treated in Bassano by Dr. Scott.

Mr. Jimmie Little who has been on the staff of the Royal Bank here for the last eighteen months left on Thursday for Seattle where he has been transferred as teller.

The Misses Cordie and Martha Peden returned on Wednesday to resume their duties at their respective schools.

Mr. Gorrell was a passenger from Calgary on Thursday's train.

It's not worth much if it were not for this sort of thing. For, after all, it is, undeniably one of the best things we can ever possess in this world and nothing can take its place. It's a fine thing to know your neighbors, to feel you are working out life's problem as a community instead of solely as a group of individuals. We have common bonds because of common interests. We are for knowing and helping each other.

SCOUT NOTES

FIRST STRATHMORE TROOP BOY SCOUTS
